Biographical Note

Gustave Baumann was born in Germany in 1881. He moved with his family to the United States in 1891. He spent some time studying the Art Institute of Chicago. He spent six years in Brown County, Indiana in an artist's colony before moving to New Mexico in 1918. In the 1920s he briefly returned to Munich, Germany to study art and was influenced by Jugendstil, but later returned to live permanently in Santa Fe, New Mexico. He died in August 1971 in Santa Fe.

Baumann began to print from separate color blocks in 1909 using the European style press. He made his own inks and used linen papers made in Germany. He produced artwork for advertising and commercial illustration as well as fine art prints. He was considered an important innovator in color woodblock printing.
